NATION HONORS UNKNOWN DEAD AT CAPITOL

Leaders of Nation Place Wreaths On Bier of Dead Soldier In Rotunda.

SHIP FIRES SALUTE

Sacred Casket Will Rest Upon Earth Brought From France By Olympia.

Overshadowed by the arrival of America's unknown soldier from the fields of France where he had sacrificed his life for his country, arrangements for the forthcoming conference on limitation of arms and settlement of the problems of the Pacific and the Far East went rapidly forward yesterday. The outstanding feature was the meeting of the advisory committee which will co-operate with the American Ambassadors in attaining the objects set forth in the call for assembly issued by President Harding.

The committee held only a brief session. It elected former Senator George Sutherland as chairman, and then named a committee to divide the work among the members. This committee will report today after which the committee will visit President Harding and then proceed with the work in hand.

The members of the committee in attendance on the session were: Geo. Sutherland, Charles S. Barrett, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson, Mrs. Eleanor Franklin Egan, Henry P. Fletcher, Undersecretary of State, Samuel Gompers, Herbert C. Hoover, John L. Lewis, John M. Parker, Gen, John J. Pershing, Stephen G. Porter, Admiral W. L. Roggers, Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Willard Saulsbury, Harold M. Sewell, Walter G. Smith, Carmi A. Thompson, William Boyce Thompson, J. Mayhew Wainwright, Assistant Secretary of War; Mrs. Thomas G. Winters.

In addition the American Ambassadors to the conference and their secretary, Basil Miles, were present. The meeting was called to order by Secretary Hughes. He referred in very general terms to the work that will be expected of the various members but he did not go into any very great detail in this connection.

As a matter of fact many of the members of the committee were surprised because the American delegates did not take them into their confidence at the outset. But the reason assigned was the same reason why Secretary Hughes has not disclosed to the newspaper correspondents any of his plans, he does not desire that the foreign delegations shall get any advance information that might lead them to attempt arguments in opposition.

Until Mr. Hughes on Monday tells the assembled invited guests of the United States what this country thinks should be done no authoritative information of the American position will be available. He and his fellows have promised a positive program. And no representatives of any nation will have any advance information concerning the breadth and scope of that program.

E. E. PADGETT BURIED

Funeral services for Edwin E. Padgett, a former resident, who died in Washington, were held this afternoon at Wheatley's mortuary chapel and conducted by Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcopal Church. Members of Alexandria Lodge No. 758, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks attended.

BAND CONCERT

At the bowling alleys of the Westminster Bible Class this evening there will be a contest between the ladies. Miss Witton has been selected as the captain of one team and Miss Henshaw as the captain of another. It is hoped that as many as possible will be present and take part in the games.

On Friday, November 18th, in the Westminster Building the class will have a band concert and entertainment by the Citizens' Band of Alexandria. The committee has arranged a splendid program of band selections, solors and readings. The proceeds will go toward building up the Class and carrying on the work it has undertaken. Tickets have been printed and may be had from members of the class or from the ladies of the church.

Bible Thought for Today

PEACE AND SAFETY: —Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusted in thee.—Isaiah 26: 3.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 10.—Homage is being paid today to the body of the unknown Amerncan soldier lying upon a catafalque in the rotunda of the United States Capitol building. The catafalque used is the same as that which supported the remains of the nation's martyred Presidents and other distinguished sons. A guard of honor watched over the remains during last night and today there was an incessant stream of visitors who passed by the casket and who paid their silent tribute to one who made the supreme sacrifice but whose identity will ever remain a mystery. The President of the United States and his wife were there and laid a wreath on the casket containing the remains. Then men and women in high official positions both in this country and in foreign nations called to pay their respects. From eight o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock at night the rotunda of the Capitol will be the scene of almost continuous services by military, patriotic and civic organizations, war associations, and foreign diplomatic bodies. Tomorrow morning at 8.30, the body of the unknown dead will be removed from the Capitol and taken to Arlington to be interred in its final resting place.

"America is extremely fortunate in being able to care for her disabled soldiers as she is doing and it is my regret that France is not able to do as much for her men," Said H. Ponsot, a consul general of the French Foreign Office in Washington as an advisor to the French delegation to the arms conference.

Mr. Ponsot said that the reconstruction problem in France is so much more acute than it is here that a comparison could not be drawn. The entire nation, he said, suffered to such an extent that it is not a matter of the state trying to compensate the soldiers and their families but of all trying to make the best of their losses. He declared it would probably be ten years before the devastated areas were restored and that to accomplish this work the country was drawing heavily upon its future. Those who are not able to live by their own industry are supported by their local communities, and not by the state, he said.

"I have just returned from a tour of the South," said Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, one of the four women appointed to the Advisory Committee of the Arms Conference, who attended the session yesterday, "Like all other parts of the country, I have visited, I find uniform demand for peace and limited disarmament. In all my experience I have never known of any measure that has received such solid backing as this one of disarmament. It is not with the women alone; the men, too, are determined to have an end of all war."

Japan, through its chief naval adviser ,Admiral Baron Kato, and France, through Premier Briand, having already expressed themselves as being willing to meet almost any plan for limitation of navies that the United States may suggest, and it being certain that Great Britain has come to the conference in an equally amicable spirit, it might seem from this point, two days before the opening of the arms conference, that the success of the meeting is assured and that all the delegates need to do is to meet, ratify the American plan and adjourn.

But such is far from the truth. The advance willingness of the visiting nations to meet America half way on a plan for limitation of armaments does not by any means remove the scores of obstacles in the way of a complete agreement and many weeks must necessarily elapse before the nations can be expected to agree on details so that they can reach a final agreement for limitation.

The establishment of an internal revenue court of appeals to take care of the hundreds of tax cases now in controversy before the Treasury Department has been urged upon President Harding by Senator Pomerene, Dem., of Ohio. The Ohio Senator has a bill pending to carry out his ideas in this direction.

"There is a crying need for the establishment of some judicial body to handle the thousands of cases involving disputed internal revenue tax payments," said Senator Pomerene to the Gazette correspondent today. "Merchants, manufacturers, and business men throughout the country and demanding that some method be adopted by the government through which controversies over the payment of internal revenue taxes may be settled with despatch and much of the red tape now employed be abolished. Under the present system, it takes two and sometimes three years to get any satisfactory settlement from the Treasury Department. Endless red-tape is encountered and altogether the present plan is nothing but a hardship imposed upon American tax payers. The passage of the legislation I have in mind will meet the situation in every particular."

TAX BILLS READY

City Treasurer Thomas W. Robinson announces that the state tax bills are payable. Attention is directed to the fact that if the bills are not paid by December 1 a penalty of 5 per cent. will be added and the collection of the bills will be enforced as required by law.

MERCHANTS TO CLOSE UP FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Miss Mary D. Pierce Addresses Retailers Association.

FOR SCHOOL LIBRARY

State Will Give Amount Equal To That Raised for Such a Needy Purpose.

The Retail Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last night adopted a resolution requesting all merchants to close their places of business tomorrow in observance of Armistice Day. Practically all of those attending agreed to do so and it is expected that the others not identified with the association also will close.

Miss Mary D. Pierce, supervisor of instruction in the public schools here, addressed the members on "The Relation of the Taxpayer to Education in the Public Schools."

Miss Pierce called attention to the fact that there is no reference librar yin the high school and that such a library is necessary.

All of those present agreed to contribute to such a library and a committee composed of Aubrey N. Shuman, Floyd Saunders and Jerome Kaufmann was appointed to solicit funds for the library. It was explained that the state will match dollar for dollar of what the city contributes to the library. Soon this bureau hopes to have installed in the schools a suitable reference library.

The retailers expressed themselves as favorable to the passage of a law requiring transfer companies to report all persons whom they move. In this manner it was pointed out the retail merchants of the city could keep track of such persons.

Armistice Day Services In Old Christ Church

November eleventh, Armistice Day, comes as a solemn call to prayer. To permit a noisy celebration of the day as a ordinary holiday, with no thought of the anniversary as a remembrance of our Christian obligation, would be tragic indeed. The coming International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments cannot of itself ensue world peace. The mass of the peoples of the world must honestly desire peace, and desire it with a real hunger of the heart, or the plans and counsels of their leaders will avail nothing. The church can do a real service by impressing upon the consciences of men their individual and social obligation in creating the atmosphere of anxious longing in which, and in which alone, plans may be perfected to give effect to the desire for world harmony, of which the call for this conference is one expression.

With these thoughts in mind the rector of Christ Church, Rev. Wm. J. Morton, D. D., has invited all the other ministers of Alexandria and their several congregations to unite in a service of prayer to be held in Christ Church on Friday, Armistice Day, from 11.30 a. m. to 12.15 p. m. It is hoped that the christian people of Alexandria will attend this service to unite in quiet earnest prayer to Almighty God that His blessing and guidance may rest on the Limitation of Armaments conference, and that out of this initial step may develop a movement for world peace, and international friendship and fellowship, which may in the end banish war from the face of the earth.

What more fitting, therefore, than such a service on such an occasion in this historic old edifice? The President of the United States has asked that at noon on that day every citizen pause for two minutes in silent prayer. The day is made especially sacred by its association with the memories of thousands of the manhood of our own and other lands who made the great sacrifice for high principles which they held more dear than even life itself. The names of some of these are on our honor rolls, and in the hearts of loved ones and friends. Let us come on this sacred day to the Lord's House, and pledge anew our hearts to continue to "carry on," and so to strive for world betterment and world peace that it shall never be said that our soldier dead made their supreme sacrifice in vain. Come to this service and join in prayer to the Great Ruler of Nations that He will give to the peoples of all the world the blessing of peace and international friendship. Christ Church, Friday 11.30 a. m. to 12.15 p. m.

Our attention has been called to an error which crept into our columns yesterday. In the report of the proceedings of city council, it was stated that Councilman McCaffrey and Sullivan voted against the proposed increased salary for the clerk of gas. Mr. McCaffrey voted for the increase, but voted against the increase salary for the city engineer, as will be seen from the official proceedings in another column.

THE RETURN

(April, 1917—November, 1921.)

The Olympia crept up the river,
The sky shedding tears of rain,
And one who left us singing—
He has come home again
To lie, in pomp and beauty,
Beneath the Capitol's Dome
While, in our hearts, we hold him
Our glorious boy come home.
Arlington gives him welcome
With promise of loving rest.
Unknown? Oh, we are unknowing
We whom his going blest!

Railroad Officials Cooperate With Chamber of Commerce In Movement.

COMPLY CHEERFULLY

Complaint of Residents of Western Section of City Receives Prompt Attention.

The Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been handling the question of reducing the heavy volume of black smoke in the western section of this city at the request of the Civic Bureau of that organization.

They have communicated with the different railroads using the through freight and passenger tracks through Alexandria and the following extracts from the letters received from the officials of these railroads lead them to believe this condition will be promptly remedied.

Mr. W. D. Duke, general manager, Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Co., Richmond, Va., writes:

"Our rules and instructions to firemen prohibit the firing of locomotives within the corporate limits of Alexandria."

Mr. G. R. Buddin, superintendent Southern Railway Co., Alexandria, Va., writes:

"I will take pleasure in having our road foreman of engines talk to our men individually, explaining to them the bad features, which I am quite sure will result in good."

Mr. J. W. Knapp, superintendent Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co., Richmond, Va., writes:

"We will be very glad to cooperate with you for the purpose of reducing black smoke within the corporate limits of Alexandria. Our men will be so instructed at once."

Mr. R. M. Colvin, superintendent Potomac Yards, near Alexandria, Virginia, writes:

"I am enclosing your correspondence to our superintendent of transportation requesting that one of our smoke inspectors be stationed between these points for a week or so with a view of discontinuing the practice of firemen unnecessarily firing their engines which has resulted in this complaint."

Mr. Colvin later advised the Chamber of Commerce that there would be a smoke inspector assigned to this duty within the next day or two.

The officials of the Chamber of Commerce are very much pleased with the prompt and thorough manner in which the railroads met their request and believe the united action of the roads will go far towards remedying the condition complained of by the residents in the western section of the city.

Virginia State Teachers Association

Richmond, Va., Nov. 10.—The annual Virginia Educational Conference will convene in Richmond Thanksgiving week, November 22, 23, 24, 25. This convention is one of the largest of its kind in America. This year forty-five separate programs have been arranged with a total of 170 specially designated speakers in addition to entertainments, numerous luncheons and dinners. Thousands of teachers and school officials will attend and participate in the exercises. It is expected that every county and city in the State will be represented with delegates and others.

Among the outstanding speakers of national reputation to appear before the conference are Dr. M. V. O'Shea, University of Wisconsin; Dr. David Snedden, Columbia University; Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, University of Virginia; Dr. Bruce R. Payne, George Peabody College for Teachers; Dr. Charles T. McFarlane, Columbia University; Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, College of William and Mary; Hon. Horace M. Towner, Congressman from Iowa, and others. One big topic for consideration will be Education for Education or ways and means of educating the masses of our citizens in the real function of education in a democracy. The program worked out at the Conference will be carried to the people of Virginia in the near future.

Special railroad rates have been allowed for the Conference, which is held under the general auspices of the State Board of Education, Virginia State Teachers Association, Cooperative Education Association, Superintendents' Association, and Trustees' Association with more than a score of departmental and other affiliated organizations.

Virginia is now one of twenty states to employ a full time executive secretary of its State Teachers Association. In a short while it is hoped every public school teacher and many private school teachers will be members of the State Association. With a full membership of about 15,000 teachers the State Association will spare no effort to promote education progressively in Virginia. There is evident enthusiasm for this program of the State Association.

Miss Kelly is well known in the city, for the past 13 years having been in charge of the suits department of Joseph Spigel Company.

Norfolk.—The Virginia Chiropractic Society ended its semi-annual meeting in Richmond on Saturday night. Dr. H. R. Bybee president of the society, said the meeting was one of the most successful and the most largely attended chiropractic meetings ever held in the state. A chiropractic bill was approved and adopted that if made a law will put chiropractic on the same plane as North Carolina, Maryland and more than half of the states in the United States. The bill requires every chiropractor coming into the state to be examined by a board of chiropractors who are now legalized, and no chiropractor will be eligible for examination unless he or she is a graduate of a reputable, recognized standard school or college of chiropractic giving not less than a three year residential course.

Danville.—Mrs. A. B. Arthur, of Union Hill, was attacked from behind Monday morning by a cow which surprised her while walking to a barn. The animal drove one of its horns into her body, inflicting a ragged wound which necessitated 25 stitches. She was brought here and her physicians say she will probably recover.

Petersburg.—When workmen for the City Street Department went to Ralph street, Pocahontas, a negro district, this morning to see if there were any Belgian paving blocks there available for use in other streets in the city, they found that the bricks were missing from a large section of the street, and nowhere could they be found. They reported the matter to the department officials and a search for the missing paving blocks started. In a short time the mystery was cleared up. A number of negro residents in the vicinity had dug the bricks up from the streets and made walkways with them in their yards. As yet the authorities have not determined a penalty for the guilty parties—whether they will be made to repave the street with the bricks or bring the bricks to the city engineer's office.

Luray.—In the number of excursionists who have visited the Luray Caverns this year has been the most prosperous in the history of their 41 years' discovery. While this is true, the Luray Caverns Corporation has incurred heavier expense than has ever been experienced in advertising the underground wonder. Literature costing many thousands of dollars and newspaper advertising aggregating immense sums have been incurred by the management. All of this has been expended in northern states, and the result has been astounding, bringing as many as eight or nine thousand persons to the Caverns in one day.

TO VISIT PRESIDENT

French Envoys Much Interested In Suggestions Made By Japanese Admiral.

The spirit of America today is enshrined in Washington.

Under the dome of the great Capitol, in that rotunda which has reechoed with the tramp of the men who have brought fame to this nation, there today reposes the symbol of its greatness. Within a flag-bedecked casket, guarded in solemn isolation, are the mortal remains of what not so long ago was an American soldier.

His name is unknown. His birthplace is recorded officially only in the book of golden deeds. He is the "unknown dead," brought back here from that France whose soil was watered with his life blood that he might typify the spirit of republicanism, of the democracy that has set an example to the world of what a nation must be permanently to endure. No one ever can know who he was.

He may be the scion of one of the most illustrious of American families. He may be the son of one of the immigrants who have come to the United States to escape foreign pomp and power, and live under that flag which assures to all equality of endeavor and equality of purpose. He may in life have been one of these immigrants who, product of the melting pot of America, swore allegiance to the starry banner and carried into direct action that oath by taking weapon to battle for perpetuation of his beloved adopted nation.

It is idle to speculate on who he was. Today he is America personified. Beside his flag-bedecked casket today and tomorrow thousands will pass. The prayers of his fellows will ascend like sacred incense to the Lord of Hosts in grateful acknowledgement that he lived, and that he has been returned here to remain forever as a shrine where lovers of liberty may reconsecrate their lives to an ideal.

Last night the President of the United States and Mrs. Harding, the chief justice of the Supreme Court and his associated justices, the Vice President and the leaders of the Senate and the House paid tribute to the unknown. With their own hands they deposited wreaths of flowers on the casket as an acknowledgment of what he had done in life. They stood in silent prayer for that soul released more than three years ago from its earthly form of clay.

Then they passed on into the busy world to permit that American to rest in quiet solitude until the coming day when his fellows, official and private citizen, can pay their final tribute and pass mournfully by proud that they too, are Americans.

A SIGNIFICANT VICTORY

The overwhelming majority for the Democratic ticket at the polls on Tuesday is significant in more than one aspect. It means the unswerving loyalty of the Old Dominion to the traditions and principles of Democracy. It indicates a scathing rebuke to the slanderous Republican propaganda that has been prevalent in the state for the past three or four months. It is a stinging reprimand to the lavish importation of Republican money and Republican speakers during the campaign. It implies an unqualified endorsement of the men who offered themselves for public office. A wave of indignation has apparently swept over the state and its mighty volume has borne the Republican party down to utter destruction.

Black Republicans and white Republicans met a common doom. As for the latter, they are left political orphans ,and we predict that thousands of them will slink back in the next twelve months, humbly knocking at the Democratic gates for re-admission. And if the gates are not opened to them, they will crawl under the fence.

And yet! the reports from all over the state are appalling as to the apathy of the electorate. The situation is desperate in Virginia and something must be done to arouse the voters. With something like 800,000 eligible voters, we doubt if the returns will show 300,000 who went to the polls.

Here in Alexandria we have approximately 3800 qualified voters; and only 1700 thought enough of their inestimable franchise to exercise it. This is disgraceful. It is a stigma and a reproach to our citizenship. More than one Virginia newspaper, including the Gazette, urged the importance of every man and woman expressing their will on election day. Speakers dwelt upon it, the Republicans themselves attempted to make campaign material out of it, but to no avail.

This way danger lies! And if ever our Republic shall founder upon the rocks of destruction it will indubitably be because an indolent and selfish people have given up their government into the hands of the professional politician. We are at a lack to prescribe a remedy. It must, indeed, be drastic if allowed to go unheeded. But we hope, at least, that the Civic Bureau of our Chamber of Commerce will give the matter deserved attention this winter, and devise some means whereby Alexandrians can be made to see their civic duty and perform it!

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

When you find that you tire easily, when happiness fails through headache, backache, nervousness,—then ask yourself: "Is it worth while to wear harmful shoes?"

Physicians assert that the bad effects of wrongly shaped shoes are far-reaching. The unnatural posture induced by high heels throws the internal organs out of position. Resulting troubles often necessitate operations.

The women who would be at her best and brightest will wear Cantilever Shoes. Their flexible arches, which conform to the natural action of the foot and allow the muscles free play, enable you to walk or stand correctly with minimum fatigue, and eliminate all danger of weak or fallen arches.

They stimulate—not retard—the circulation which brings to the cheeks a bewitching glow. They do not abuse the nerves which run from the feet up through the body even to the eyes. Knowing that your physical perfection starts with your feet, you can take satisfaction in the thought that your Cantilever Shoes conduce to your health and charm, your youthfulness and joy in living.

Good taste distinguishes every detail of Cantilever Shoes. They exemplify the fact that women and their shoes can at once be sensible and stylish.

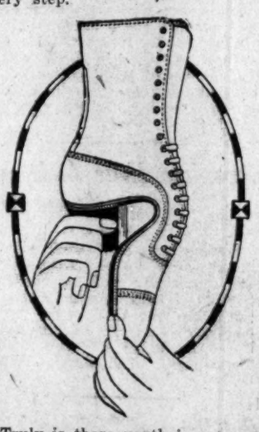

Autumn Calls You to Walk

A sparkle in the air beckons you to swing out into a walk. Will your feet stand a gay hike up the Avenue? Or do they wobble and ache at the end of a few blocks? Then turn your footsteps to our store.

As smart as you wish, and as comfortable as a moccasin, is the Cantilever Shoe.

It has a heel well-set for poise, a sole line well designed for comfort; room for the toes, support for the arch. And a shank that flexes with every step.

Truly is there youth in your walk in a Cantilever Shoe, for the foot is freed from a stiff, unrelenting sole. The blood circulates freely, the muscles grow strong. Cantilevers correct and prevent fallen arches and make walking one of the big joys of Autumn.

ABOUT THE HOUSE
by R. S.

Here is an item that might be of real service to some woman of the farm whose flocks are ravaged by owls, hawks, and other winged marauders. We visited one poultry and wild fowl farm this fall where such conditions were met and triumphed over by the following method. A pole about fifteen feet high was set up in a pasture overlooking the large chicken runs. It is from such a position these predatory pests love to view the landscape o'er in search of tempting meals for hungry nestlings. The top of this stump was samed off, and an ordinary steel trap placed thereon, baited with fresh meat. The result was that scarcely a day or night passed that a bird of prey was not captured and properly dealt with much to the increase and contentment of the flocks.

While most homes today, we believe, keep an emergency kit in the home medicine closet, we are sure many more would do so could mothers but realize how really helpful a First Aid can be, especially in the home of several small children. Besides the neat bandages, sterilized and sealed against all infections for the little cuts and minor wounds of childhood, and the adhesive tape for binding the same more neatly than the old time string that was always coming untied, the kit will contain ointment for burns and lotions for ivy poisoning, medicated gauze for dressing infected surfaces and many other aids for everyday emergencies, with a book of instructions. Time was, when bunches of dusty cobwebs were stuffed into a gaping wound, and chunks of fat bacon bound over punctures made by rusty nails. In the enlightened home these crude methods are as obsolete as bleeding for fevers.

When using fancy pearl buttons on linen and other sheer shirt waists, the daintily dressed woman will find an added attratcion in the appearance of her waist if the buttons are sewed firmly on a separate strip of material, and button holes worked in both sides of the front opening. The better grade of pearl buttons will not stand tubbing, and these strips, buttoned into the garment will present a much neater appearance than if sewed on in the old way.

Here are two tempting and easily prepared recipes that will come in handy when emergency arises. One f r a cold entree, the other a delicate salad.

Shrimp Canopes.

Fry some rounds of bread lightly in butter. Mash some shrimp and add butter enough to form a smooth paste. Spread the fried bread with this, and place whole shrimps on the top in form of a rosette, and in the center put a pinch of chopped parsley.

Tomato Aspic.

This must be made the night before, or early in the morning so the gelatine will be firmly set. Take a quart can of tomatoes, warm through and strain. Season with salt, pepper, a pinch of cayenne, and if desired, celery salt. Bring to scalding point, and add two tablespoonful gelatine, previously soaked in cup of cold water. Stir until thoroughly melted, and pour in square tin to an inch depth. Serve in squares on nests of shredded lettuce, with your favorite salad dressing.

One of the latest additions to milay's evening toilet is the wreath of artificial flowers worn after the fashion of the erstwhile boa around the neck. These are composed of the beautiful new silks in all modern shades, with foliage of softest velvets, and the price is in keeping with their charm.

Two stunning little dresses of brilliant hue caught my eye recently. I presume they belonged to the "flapper" stage and I could almost visualize the piquant faces rising from them. One was cut in the popular kimona style—may it ever remain—absolutely plain, but the round neck, the borders, and hems of the short sleeves had "trimmin's" of blue circles, outlined with a tracery of black. The dress was a bright pink, fashioned of Japanese crepe.

The other is a skimpy affair with scant blouse effect, but the waist line, round neck, sleeves and deep pointed pockets are very charmingly embroidered in blue, a pleasing contrast to the vivid orange of the crinkly material.

A Strong Bond Market

The rapidity with which certain new issues of bonds have been oversubscribed, and the fact that interest rates have shown, during the past few months, a decided tendency toward lower levels, can be taken as evidence of the trend of the bond market.

While bond prices are still low we recommend the purchase of those kinds of bonds that are recognized as the safest, as we believe that the investment demand will center on such issues for months to come.

We have selected for your consideration a list of secured mortgage bonds, essentially Southern, yielding 7 to 7 per cent.

Write for circular if you are interested in what the South can offer.

BIG GAME FRIDAY

What are you city folks going to do on your holiday Friday? Here is a good suggestion: All of you know that you have an Athletic Club in town, one that has a real football team just rounding into shape. Now, if you are looking for a real afternoon of sport you had better drop out to the Big D park and see the Dreadnaughts lineup before the Quantico marines who now possess the army championship, won in Baltimore last year. This Armistice Day attraction can not be beat again this season and if you are present you will be assured of a real battle and will see the best home game to be played here this season. This Quantico team will be represented by eight of the best college players in their days of college football and are led by Captain Liversedge, the Oregon State college full back who won his place on the all-Western team for three years. Driscoll, a Nebraska university player, will be hard to stop. The game was arranged by the marines for the purpose of getting their men in condition for the championship game at Baltimore Thanksgiving Day. Will they be in condition? Come out and see if this Dreadnaught team will let them try any conditioning stuff.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says:

"When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SPORTS

What promises to be one of the most thrilling games that was ever played in this city, will take place Friday, November 11, Armistice Day, between the Dreadnaught A. C., and the Headquarters Marines from Quantico. This team is now battling for the championship of the Eastern Department of the U. S. army and they have a team that has not been defeated in two years and it will be the first time that they have met the Dreadnaughts, and fans if you want to see a real football team in action come out and look the Leathernecks over, who need no introduction to the football fans of this section. The game starts at 3 o'clock, Dreadnaught field.

Do You Buy on a Guess?

OPERATORS of fleets of highway freighters, taxicab owners and thousands of mercantile and manufacturing establishments buy their gasoline on proved performance, the only sound business basis.

They must get power and economy to meet competitive costs. Their trucks need correctly balanced gasoline, with enough light vapors for quick starts even in cold weather; gasoline that gives unwavering power on heavy grades, that burns up so completely that it leaves a minimum of carbon residue, that gives the biggest mileage per gallon.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline pulls thousands of these machines because it is the balanced motor fuel. It excels other fuels in speed of starting power, as measured on a dynamometer or in the speed and pull of an automobile, distance any type of automobile can make per gallon, and freedom from carbon accumulations over a long period.

This is not a guess work Gasoline

Innumerable tests in the laboratory and on the road under every condition of service and climate have definitely established the superiority of this improved, balanced gasoline.

You don't have to go out of your way to get "Standard" Motor Gasoline, nor do you pay a premium for it. One quality wherever you buy it—the best.

but it takes considerably longer to Go there. You can Think "the vacancy's filled" in an instant, but it requires time to actually Get the right man. The quickest method known is thru an Ad in The Gazette Classified Columns!

Do You Really Want a Job?

Walter Reed General Hospital has fifty vacancies for men who are willing to enlist in the Medical Department. Of course not every man can enlist in the Army. He must be of sound mind and body, of good moral character and have some education or at least able to speak read and write the English language. Above all things he must be a real "He—Man" in order to uphold the reputation and traditions of our Army.

The United States Army is the greatest institution for building up and development of men, both mentally and physically. It tends to stabilize the wobbly nature of immature youth, to inculcate the habits of clean and healthy living, to bring out the real traits of character, straitforwardness, self-reliance, resourcefulness and independence, all of which make for better citizenship. Thru the systematic and scientific application of exercises, drills and calisthenics together with observation of simple sanitary rules physical perfection is approached closer in the army than in any other institution. Recreation is looked upon as one of the most important needs in soldier's life and all sorts of clean, healthy, enjoyable amusements are provided.

He is learning something new every day either from his instructors or his comrades with whom he mingles. He becomes more tolerant and broadminded. He has a splendid opportunity for study and advancement. Promotion in the Army, like in any other walk of life, depends on each individual's ability, efficiency and application to work at hand. With every promotion comes higher pay, more privileges and respect from all concerned.

No matter what your trade or occupation in civil life, chemist or shoemaker, law student or a chauffeur typist or just a simple farm hand there is a place for you at WALTER REED GENERAL HOSPITAL. A large institution like WALTER REED HOSPITAL, operated along the most scientific and up-to-date methods, requires both brain power and muscular energy. Skilled X-Ray operators, laboratory technicians, dental assistants, clerks, typists, stenographers, surgical assistants, ward orderlies cooks, bakers, barbers ambulance drivers, watchmen, etc., have a sphere of usefulness.

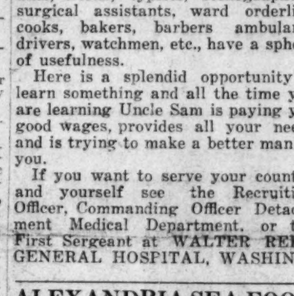

Here is a splendid opportunity to learn something and all the time you are learning Uncle Sam is paying you good wages, provides all your needs and is trying to make a better man of you.

If you want to serve your country and yourself see the Recruiting Officer, Commanding Officer Detachment Medical Department, or the First Sergeant at WALTER REED GENERAL HOSPITAL, WASHINGTON, D. C., any time between the hours of 7:00 A. M., and 5: P.M.

Hundreds of thousands are economizing on coal

By using Perfection Oil Heaters

The cost of Aladdin Security Oil, the finest kerosene you can buy, is but a trifle more than half what it was a year ago.

And with a Perfection there is absolutely no waste of fuel, no ashes, no bother. Comfort-point heat in an instant, just where you want it—with the Perfection.

Rushing your coal heater to make one or two rooms warm or to take "the chill" out of a hallway—that's what eats up the coal. You can get the same results in a few minutes by using Perfection Oil Heaters. They burn for about ten hours on one gallon of oil.

Moreover, the Perfection will go in those comfortable reading corners where it is hard to drive the heat from your furnace; in that favorite bay-window for instance.

It is easy to care for the Perfection, so simple is its smokeless wick adjustment. It is light, attractive, and built for many years of service. Blue or black, with or without nickeled trimmings.

Sold by most hardware, housefurnishing and department stores. Look at one today.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE STREET
By The Man About Town

An old negro mammy dressed in deep mourning stood on Windmill Hill in the drizzling rain sobbing audibly as the big ship passed up the river. Whether she was a "Gold Star" mammy or not we are unable to say. But the passing of the Olympia affected her deeply.

A youth of some twelve summers, having only one leg and a crutch hobbled down to watch the passing Man o' war. The little fellow with a catch in his voice said: "I can't never be a soldier, can I mister?" We had to look away from the pathetic pleading face when we told him that he couldn't be a soldier and wear a uniform. But all brave men are not soldiers Buddie, and the fellow who can buck the world with your handicap and keep on smiling is just as brave as the man who dares the cannon's mouth.

During the war time period we learned due respect for the Flag. Has that lesson been so soon forgotten that we can stand with covered head and view the passing of a ship bearing the body of one who suffered the supreme sacrifice? We noticed many men yesterday who had evidently forgotten the honor due the emblem of Our Country—and that on so momentous an occasion. Is our gratitude so light a thing?

A ragged little negro rang the doorbell as we sat down to enjoy our midday meal. In answer to our questions he said that he was hungry and wanted a piece of bread. We took him to the kitchen where the big-hearted lady of the house prepared him a couple of fat sandwiches. While she was fixing them the bell rang again and we found an equally wo-be-gone and ragged negro girl at the door. She rolled the whites of her eyes and said, "Mister, is my brudder here?"

"Is that your brother who said he was hungry?" we inquired.

"Yessuh! an, mister, I'se hongry too."

They both departed hugging the donation to their ragged breasts.

The Idle Hour Theater filmed a story called "Before the White Man Came." A party of Indians in the full fighting regalia of their tribe were used as an incentive to pad the box office receipts. A crowd of school children accompanied by a teacher surrounded the specimens of an almost extinct people, the youngsters with wide eyes and open mouths. "I bet they'd scalp you in a minute," said a boy of eight. "Nah, they's moving picture Injuns," answered another. The noble redman showed his teeth in a dazzling smile and said: "Don't be afraid boys, I'm not in my war paint."

Republicans were scarcer than hen's teeth on the streets the day after election. A certain attorney well known as a strong adherent to Jeffersonian policies sought long and hard to locate and equally well known business man of marked Republican tendencies. "He has been upstairs taking stock all day and we can't get him down," volunteered the Republican's father. "I'll tell him you called."

We were told that the Olympia would proceed slowly up the river to the navy yard. Before the last of the twenty-one gun salute thundered across the eight mile stretch to Fort Washington, the Olympia had passed Alexandria. Consequently many people in this city missed seeing the funeral ship entirely.

At last Uncle Sam is determined to protect the mails and the lives of his employees in the railway mail service. Marines have been assigned the duty of protecting the trains and when a bold bad bandit runs into a "Devil Dog" he is going to find that he hasn't tackled a harmless sort of somebody. Mail wagon drivers have been equipped with guns and they have orders to use them when necessary. The local postoffice officials advise that the drivers here have been armed with the latest model army pistols and given plenty of ammunition.

Mrs. C. William Wattles, 209 Prince street, who was recently elected a member of the board by the city council was duly installed. Dr. S. B. Moore, president, Dr. E. C. Leadbeater, vice president and Gilbert J. Cox, clerk were reelected to office by a unanimous vote of the board.

Nothing was done in regard to installing musical and vocal instruction in the schools further than referring the application of Mrs. Beverly to a committee. At the last minute, Mr. A. E. Bladen, put the matter before the board who sidestepped the issue squarely and voted to adjourn. In spite of assurances to the contrary the members of the present school board do not appear, with few exceptions, to be in the least interested in this important matter.

Inquiries at the plant of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation reveal the fact that the appointment of a receiver by Judge Groner last week has resulted in the discharge of the entire clerical force and nearly all other employees. A watchman and carttaker are the only employees retained by the receiver, Mr. Crupper.

Girls Form Club

The Virginia Daredevil Athletic Club was organized Monday night at the home of Miss Helen Travers, 209 S. Royal St. It is composed of young ladies and expects to put several good teams on the basket ball floor this winter. Miss Annie Moore was elected president of the club and Miss Sadie Olinger, secretary-treasurer.

The tentative lineups follow: First team, Margaret Schaff, Helen Travers, Margaret Saunders, Thelma Mumford, Sadie Olinger, Annie Moore, and the Second team, Virginia Allen, Mary Schoeni, Margaret Moore, Anna Grover, Loretta Trice, and Madelene Norris.

Margaret Schaffe was made captain of both teams and Miss Helen Travers was elected manager of both. The teams will be coached by Mr. Leslie Nowland. The manager would like to arrange games with teams of the 105 pound class any where in Virginia.

After business was concluded refreshments were served and the club adjourned to hold its next meeting at the home of Miss Mary Schoeni.
